

One Shop Stop for Wine Tourism

Description

If you were going to open up a shop, what would you sell?

If I open a shop then I would sell curated wine tourism packages.

Vineyard Tours

I am in a stage of life where I am at a verge of completing my active work life or in other words retiring from my primary job. Not retiring in actual sense of the word since I plan to pursue a lot of other things in my next innings.

Foremost of these presently on my mind is pursuing my passion for wines. And any shop or business activity I open would be surely around wines.

Having visited many vineyards and wineries in recent past I feel there's calling for me there. I would love to plan wine tours to fascinating vineyards both in my country and abroad and make the whole event extremely enjoyable and knowledgeable for the participants.

A vineyard near Bangalore

Wish me luck for the same and as of now do read my blogpost on my visit to Grover Zampa Vineyards in Bangalore, India as shared below.
